ASGCO® Introduces its VUL-CON™ EZ Series for Vulcanizing Presses

Allentown, PA.: ASGCO® – “Complete Conveyor Solutions”, a leading manufacturer, distributor, and service provider, is pleased to announce the successful addition of our EZ Series, two piece aluminum frame press to their line of Vul-Con™ vulcanizing presses and equipment.

The new EZ100(100psi) and the EZ60(60psi) expands the line of vulcanizing equipment offered to allow the customer flexibility, depending on the application, to choose the correct press for their requirements. The EZ line offers a lightweight unit which enables the customer to easily set up and then dismantle once the splice is complete. The presses are capable of vulcanizing conveyor belts between 24” to 60” wide. Both EZ press units offer either the internal control unit or the optional external control box which also can have a data logger option, to provide important splice information via a USB port.

ASGCO® has over 40 years’ experience in vulcanizing / splicing of rubber, pvc and urethane conveyor belts for the bulk material handling industry. Knowledge gained from professional belt splicing technicians helped ASGCO®’s engineers design the new series of EZ presses to meet the strong demands that are required for the tough working environments of the mining industry.

“We are excited about the addition of the EZ Press line for ASGCO® and feel this is a natural fit with our long term focus on providing our customers with quality products and unmatched service” said Jeff Jurasits, Vice President of Business Development ASGCO®.
